

Property Tour

Pine Ridge Sanctuary

Property of Barbara and Terry Glancy

Miami-Dade County, FL

Date: Saturday, January 21, 2012; meet and greet at 9:00 AM. Program begins promptly at 9:30.

Tour: Having earned much recognition for their hard work and exemplary conservation ethic, the Glancy family is looking forward to hosting a Forest Stewardship Tour at their Pine Ridge Sanctuary in Miami-Dade County. Terry and Barbara Glancy purchased fifteen acres of degraded pineland in 1976 and began restoring the land by first removing exotic plants such as Brazilian pepper, Australian pine, Burma reed and Natal grass. Prescribed fire was introduced on the property in 1979. The Forest Stewardship Landowners of 1997 and 2011 Florida Land Stewards of the year, they are exemplary stewards of one of Florida's most endangered ecosystems, the Pine Rockland. Pine Rocklands occur on the coastal Miami rock ridge, a limestone rock outcropping that extends south and west from North Miami Beach to Long Pine Key in Everglades National Park. Only one percent of the original 192,000 acres of this system still exists today as fragmented isolated islands. The first Forest Stewardship Property south of Lake Okeechobee, Pine Ridge Sanctuary has earned Miami-Dade County's Natural Forest Community classification and is a registered property with the Nature Conservancy. The property has also been awarded the Florida Native Plant Society's Overall State Landscape Enhancement Award. Join us for a tour. For more about the property and their orchid nursery, see <http://www.PineRidgeOrchids.com>.
